

Susan Hodgkin

Susan Hodgkin is joyfully committed to fostering the intellect, passions, awareness, and hearts of middle school students. She has been at Gordon School in East Providence, RI since 2010, where she teaches general music, ukulele, and music technology, and directs musical theater, 2 choirs, a handbell ensemble, and an auditioned a cappella group, the G-Notes.

Susan has a Bachelor and Master's of Music in Piano

Performance from the University of North Carolina and the University of Illinois, and she completed post-graduate work at Boston University and URI. She has worked extensively as a piano teacher, accompanist and chamber musician, and she taught for 15 years in the Cranston Public Schools. Susan currently sings with the Gracenote Singers to provide bedside singing at the end of life and believes that music touches the human spirit.
